1. INTRODUCTION

The scientific study of the human mind and its functions, especially which affects their behavior, mental characteristics or attitude of a person or a group known as psychology. Homeless youth were often called street kids because their parents have no resources to help them and many of them were orphan, they don't have parents to support, guide and protect them, so had no place to live or survived their life, therefore mafia's like organization used these kinds of children to run their illegal business, by formulated their mentality in wrong direction.

Pakistan faced street begging at an alarming ratio. The country was suffering from poverty which has forced hundreds of people to commit suicide, forced women to sell out their children and youngsters who left their homes force them to beg. According to latest survey a large number of peoples were living under a poverty line, because their earning was extremely low which creates huge difficulty for a person to live a reasonable life.

Academic research defines as a major perspective to begins the street begging, was the social problem so therefore the worker who works for the the mafia utilized it as startup trigger and targeted the youth that having the age approximately (18 to 20) years. Because their minds were sharp and their body had strength to do things but they utilized their energy and strength in wrong path that is street begging. As we seen that the word street begging is a small word but causes a great negative impact on youth's lives (Mark, 2012). Street begging was not controlled by one or two person it is an organization which runs and controls these type of act. In spite of guiding them right path they wash the youth's brain to prepare them to beg. This was how these organizations scuttle their illegal business.

These organization not only emphasized them to do begging but also encouraging them to used drugs and instruct them to spread it in community or in different areas, from which these types of act not only effects on youth's mentality but also their health too (Potter, 2014). According to research in Pakistan mostly drug addicted children were spotted on street places. According to Pakistan's research based articles, states that there is an organization where they contrive the youngsters in the form of beggars, these organization damaged their body parts, tried to visualized the public that it was real because the purpose was to get empathy from the people who were present around the beggars. So this was how things were scurry in street life (Smith, 2015).

According to research of United nation discovered that 100 to 140 million children were living on a street, which shows that the youth's power departed to decline state so we can easily estimate that again the dark revolution begin to influence on the world because youth were the only power who makes the world and without their importance the world was like a "garden without flowers" (Rome, 2009).

According to report states that Pakistan is the place where population approximately about 189.9 million according to recent demographic data, the most shameful and disaster able aspect was the population margin of the street children were about 10 million and those children that have the age about 18-20 years their population estimated were 1.5 million. This ratio shows that country bends on his knee it seems that economic status and establishment of a country was moves towards the darkness and demolishes the future of youth and country as well. The number that involves to represent the street children in Karachi were 10,000, in Lahore were about 70,000, in Quetta were about 6000, in Peshawar were about 12,000, and in Rawalpindi were about 25,000 (Kashif, Ahmed, 2008).

As we know that drugs are the silent killer, for short time it gives pleasure but slowly and steadily it devastated brain's ability to control the functions of body. The effectance of drugs had a physiological effect when ingested or introduced into the body through injection and from other methods. Research based article states that the Pakistan is the 5th largest place where these types of activities were held and to enhance these types of activities (Tarique, Hassan, 2009). Primary key were the street children the most hidden aspect behind in this mafia like organization leads this type of illegitimate business through street children because their parents doesn't have enough resources and strength to help their children so therefore they sold their children to these organization (Brooke, 2008). Others were those who escape from their houses due to certain reason so these types of organization caught them and then utilized their body energy, strength and their body to sell the drugs. That's why our country's youth is suffering from psychological problem, both who received the drugs and those who sales it mean street children (Tarique, Hassan, 2009).

Begging is curse on society people make this profession as money earner system and demolished the real concept of sympathy. According to research the member who works for the mafia, prepared many street children to do this type of activity to show sympathy to people who were present around them. So firstly these organization sort their body impaired by broke their body parts and excreted out some body organ to developed emotion and feeling for the public who observing them and it was not finish yet they had also do many other malevolent work which makes me embarrassed to tell you that the organ they excreted out from these children is the purposed to sold it. If any street child's death had occurs so they won't pit him or her in to the grave firstly they expelled out all their valuable vital organ and then pit them into grave (Adnan, 2009).

Psychologically the children who were present on the street were have eroded brain which mold their mind to beg and for other illegitimate work. According to research article states that there were different methods to swab the children's mind through therapies like (hypnotism) and other medicines like zolpidem tartrate, Quazepam and Carbromal etc (Lee, 2013). Stimulate to destroy their mentality level so they won't be able to done things by their own. They could do only those things which organization wants to done through them (Nadia, Zulfikar, 2007).

An article states that the organization that runs these types of business, had alot of motives related to their business and one of the major motive is that they do not want to standardized youth power in positive manner because they knew that youth are the power and supporting back of any country or nation if this backup begins to construct in positive manner so firstly all these types of illegal business slowly and steadily departed to decline, in the past they makes people addicted of drugs but knows that if this new generations strongly aware about it and if they bring revolution in it so their business stands no ware so that's why these type of organization targeted the youth that having (18-20) year .So this was the strategy of the organization to destroyed the youth, so no one stops them and this tradition proceeded last longer.(Ahmadi, Hama, 2004)

Begging was not just identify only it also generated too according to research article states that there were many organization that adopted children or bought them from their parents but not to build them their major outlook is to prepared these children for begging and when they were in the proper state to do begging so they break some body part of that child and then place them in some sort of areas for begging, these all were planned by these organization this a bunch of organization called network (Paul, 2010). It was pure planned that how to prepared youth for this business because they want less risk and more profit so that's why these organization washed their mind at the beginning stage when these children having age only 5. This is the age of children's grass root level so in spite of developing they destroyed them and utilized them in begging (James, Patrick, 2011).

According to research article states that some of the youth children pretending to be gay to earn money through begging so by this reprehensible act a stigma where appeared (Kaushik, 2014). All the youth of Pakistan, for earning money they destroyed their self-esteem and personality at any cost so this was the main reason that our country doesn't reach the success of enhancement, respect and authority. Other reason was that any of the youth who have knowledge and education but they don't have resources to full filled their needs so by this negative effectance, causes great impact on their life so they have no other option inspite of doing begging so due to this reason there were many agency or organization are present who plays with their emotion and fulfilled their needs based on only one condition, to beg so this is how our educated youth was also involved in this dishonorable and illegal business (Junaid, Raman, 2005).

2. METHODOLOGY

Descriptive method is used to carry out the study by getting this information. I had conducted a research survey and filled these questioners to those people who relates with this topic assignment (Psychological Perspectives on Street Children in Pakistan) and in this research, firstly the concern was taken from the participants that participants was ensure to take the concern ethically and then I filled 100 question papers with 100 different peoples who relates with this matter including male and female that having the age (18-20) years it means youth, it will take ten days to filled these questioners. I Face numerous problem to get information related to this sensitive topic and the most difficult part was that mostly the people are illiterate they doesn't know how to read and write so I went to an organization name (Care and cure) where these age of youth were present over there. When I filled these questioners with them so some are able to read it but can't write and some of them won't be able to done both of these activity, but by the help of the workers those were present on that spot had help me to sort out this matter by heard the views from them and filled the questioners.
